“A” Day

The Word of the Week is dichotomy (di-cot-o-me), a noun meaning a division into two contradictory groups.

Only two days this week until Thanksgiving break, so get those math concepts figured out before you leave. Come to the North Campus Library to work with the SASS Math Tutors. This week, tutoring is only available in the library on Tuesday from 6:45 AM until the end of 10th hour. . We will back on our regular schedule starting Tuesday November 28th. So, stop in to see a SASS Math tutor before heading off for the long weekend!

Hello Class of 2018! We will be accepting Senior portraits for the yearbook until Monday December 4th. Please turn into Mrs. Barbee’s mailbox at North campus. Check the Website for what format to turn in pictures.
